

MICROSOFT

Microsoft, outside of ancillary products is now seen as the core of all business-software. Through accreditation and the customers, we support we are able to provide the full suite of applications, these covering email, productivity, analytics, collaboration, compliance, and security.

As a CSP, we are able to offer you vast savings across the Microsoft-suite and guarantee we can beat MSRP pricing for all products.

How we're different:

We don't only supply licenses to customers. We consult and understand your businesses relationship with software and their uses and find ways to integrate systems for interoperability.

We've often and long seen customers on legacy licenses that don't provide the right service at the right cost points. Microsoft have over the years released myriads of new licenses, from the E to F range of licenses – We assess our customers, their requirements, and services required and aim to provide the correct license mix to ensure costs are saved.
